He is currently finishing his 37th year on the faculty at Illinois.

GEORGE FRANCIS (LAS)

My interests are unconventional: publishing in pure and applied mathematics, but also collaborating with engineers, psychologists, and artists. I was Donna Cox's 1987 co-PI for the NCSA-Beckman Renaissance Experimental Laboratory. In 2013 I collaborated with NY artist Tony Robbin and 9 Illinois Geometry Lab undergraduates. Their graduate mentor, Eliana Duarte, presented our results at an architectural conference in Spain. I've taught in the Campus Honors Program since 1990, serving on its faculty advisory board. I was first elected to the Senate as an assistant professor, and served on diverse committees: Student Life, Campus Operations, IT (chair). On the USC, I sat across from 5 presidents in 6 years. On the Committee on Committees, I will support shared governance between administration, faculty, and students. My platform is: Personal qualifications outweigh prominence and factional allegiances. I will balance Senate committees between eager young faculty and seasoned, committed mentors from the entire campus.
