Proposal to the Senate Educational Policy Committee

PROPOSAL TITLE: Revise the BALAS in Interdisciplinary Studies- Discontinue American Civilization and Renaissance Studies Concentrations, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

SPONSOR and COLLEGE CONTACT: Karen Carney, Associate Dean, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, kmcarney@illinois.edu, 217-333-1350.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION: The LAS Interdisciplinary Studies major encompasses several distinct programs that enable undergraduate students to pursue a plan of study that crosses disciplinary boundaries. Originally established as the LAS Humanities major, it was revised and renamed in 2003 as the LAS Interdisciplinary Studies major to include social sciences and other fields as well as humanities disciplines. Unlike traditional disciplinary majors, this program enables students to pursue a major with a historical or area focus that combines courses from a number of disciplines including literature, language, history and culture. It has also been used as an incubator for emerging programs of study (such as Gender and Women’s Studies, which began as a concentration in this major in 2003, before becoming a separate, standalone major in 2008). Currently, the major includes four undergraduate concentrations:

- American Civilization
- Jewish Studies
- Medieval Studies
- Renaissance Studies

Of these, only Jewish Studies (established in 2013) and Medieval Studies (revised in 2014) remain current and viable concentrations; the other two concentrations have not been updated for some time. With this revision, we propose to discontinue the concentrations in American Civilization and Renaissance Studies.

JUSTIFICATION: Each concentration of the major in Interdisciplinary Studies is meant to be supervised by faculty members whose scholarship and educational interests have involved them in interdisciplinary teaching and research. The Medieval Studies concentration is overseen by faculty in the Program in Medieval Studies, and Jewish Studies is overseen by faculty in the Program in Jewish Culture and Society. Neither the concentration in American Civilization nor the one in Renaissance Studies has the same level of faculty oversight as these other concentrations.

As of Fall 2015, one student was enrolled in the concentration in Renaissance Studies, and no students were enrolled in the American Civilization concentration. We will work with any current or returning students enrolled in either of these concentrations to enable them to complete their degrees, but will not admit any new students to either of the concentrations in American Civilization or Renaissance Studies.

BUDGETARY AND STAFF IMPLICATIONS:

1) Resources
   a. How does the unit intend to financially support this proposal?
      No financial support is required to eliminate these two concentrations.
   b. How will the unit create capacity or surplus to appropriately resource this program? If applicable, what functions or programs will the unit no longer support to create capacity?
      No additional resources are required.
   c. Will the unit need to seek campus or other external resources? If so, please provide a summary of the sources and an indication of the approved support.
      No campus or external resources are required.
   d. Please provide a letter of acknowledgment from the college that outlines the financial arrangements for the proposed program.
      Not applicable.

2) Resource Implications
   a. Please address the impact on faculty resources including the changes in numbers of faculty, class size, teaching loads, student-faculty ratios, etc.
      We anticipate no changes in class size, faculty numbers, or teaching loads as a result of this change.
   b. Please address the impact on course enrollment in other units and provide an explanation of discussions with representatives of those units.
      The American Civilization concentration draws on courses in English, in History, and in the College of Fine and Applied Arts; we have obtained letters from each of these units that indicate that the elimination of this concentration is likely to have little to no impact on course enrollments. The Renaissance Studies concentration requires only two Humanities courses, along with coursework chosen in consultation with an adviser, so should have even less impact if it is eliminated.
   c. Please address the impact on the University Library.
      Not applicable.
   d. Please address the impact on technology and space (e.g. computer use, laboratory use, equipment, etc.)
      Not applicable.

DESIRED EFFECTIVE DATE: Upon approval.
STATEMENT FOR ACADEMIC CATALOG:

For the Degree of Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts and Sciences

Major in Sciences and Letters Curriculum

E-mail: ips@illinois.edu

Minimum required major and supporting course work equates to 45-51 hours.

General education: Students must complete the Campus General Education requirements. Minimum hours required for graduation: 120 hours

Departmental distinction. To be eligible for graduation with distinction, a student must have a college grade point average of 3.5, a major concentration grade point average of 3.5, completion of HUM 498 with a grade of A, and completion of a semester paper in HUM 498 that is judged to be deserving of “distinction” by a committee of at least two faculty members.

High distinction. To be eligible for graduation with high distinction, a student must have a college grade point average of 3.5, a major concentration grade point average of 3.7, and must have completed HUM 492 (instead of HUM 498) with a grade of A and a thesis in HUM 492 that is judged to be deserving of “high distinction” by a committee of at least two faculty members.

Requirements for the Major

Elect one of the concentrations offered within the major and file a concentration declaration with the LAS Student Academic Affairs Office no later than the end of the first semester of the junior year. Students who do not begin work on concentration requirements by the junior year will be at a disadvantage.

Select specific courses counted toward completion of a concentration with the advice and approval of the concentration advisor, subject to specific concentration requirements. Students are strongly encouraged also to enroll in 6-7 hours of Western civilization (HIST 140 or HIST 141 and HIST 142 or HIST 143, or CWL 241 and CWL 242).

For the elected concentration, complete the stated minimum number of hours in courses applicable toward the major and in accord with the distribution requirements listed below; at least 25 hours must be at the 200, 300 or 400 level.

All campus General Education and foreign language requirements must be satisfied.

- American Civilization Concentration
- Jewish Studies Concentration
- Medieval Civilization Concentration
- Renaissance Studies Concentration

American Civilization Concentration

This concentration offers a comprehensive introduction to the study of American civilization primarily through the study of art, history, literature, philosophy, and the social sciences.

Two introductory courses chosen with the approval of the concentration advisor; the introductory courses should provide a broad overview of the development of American culture, for example, HUM 141 and HUM 142.

Select in consultation with the concentration advisor from courses offered in the departments of anthropology, economics, geography, political science, and sociology. 12

- HUM 397 Special Topics Junior (An advanced-level course with an American focus may be substituted with the approval of the advisor.) 3

- HUM 498 Special Topics Senior 3

Substitutions for any of the above specific courses may be permitted with the approval of the concentration advisor only in exceptional cases.
Twelve hours of 300- and 400-level courses in the major must be taken on this campus.

All foreign language requirements must be satisfied.

A Major Plan of Study Form must be completed and submitted to the LAS Student Academic Affairs Office before the end of the fifth semester (60–75 hours). Please see your advisor.

Renaissance Studies Concentration

This concentration incorporates course work in the Renaissance and related periods and places an emphasis on independent study and the completion of research papers in the junior and senior years.

NOTE: Students must acquire a reading knowledge of a foreign language relevant to their interests in Renaissance study, selected in consultation with the concentration advisor. These hours will not count towards the minimum of 45 hours required for this concentration.

Medieval Civilization Concentration

The Program in Medieval Studies sponsors this concentration. This concentration introduces students to medieval (ca. 500- ca. 1500 CE) cultures across the world, providing them with an understanding of periods and movements, institutions, material culture, ideas, beliefs, and values of the diverse cultures that comprise the medieval globe. The coursework spans both geographic regions and disciplines to introduce students to the breadth of medieval cultures as well as to the diversity of methods and perspectives for their study.

The concentration includes a minimum of 45 hours, divided into (I) an introductory course in global medieval literatures and cultures; (II) geographical distribution coursework as specified below; (III) advanced medieval coursework selected by the student in consultation with a Medieval Studies faculty advisor; and (IV) a capstone experience involving an intensive writing and research project. Because Medieval Studies is an interdisciplinary... field of study, students are urged to consult with a Medieval Studies faculty advisor to ensure that they take a diverse range of courses providing some exposure to the fields of History and Anthropology; Literature; the Arts; and Philosophy or Religion. Although study of medieval languages is not a requirement, students who intend to pursue graduate study in Medieval Studies should complete at least two courses in an appropriate language; up to twelve hours of appropriate language study can be applied to the Additional Medieval Studies Coursework.

Additional Medieval Studies Coursework

Medieval-related coursework from participating departments selected in consultation with the concentration advisor. At least 12 hours must be at the 300- or 400-level. A list of courses in Medieval Studies is maintained on the Medieval Studies Program website. Up to 12 hours of appropriate language study can be applied to meet this requirement with approval of a Medieval Studies faculty advisor.

Capstone Experience

A capstone experience (normally in the student’s senior year) involving intensive interdisciplinary research and writing on a medieval topic. Any 400-level MDVL course (or medieval-related course not cross-listed with MDVL, with the approval of a Medieval Studies faculty advisor) can be designated as a capstone experience with approval of the instructor. For the course to qualify as a capstone experience, the student must undertake a substantial research project that supplements the standard course requirements, in the form either of an additional project or of a longer and more research-intensive version of an existing course project. The project must involve both primary and secondary research using advanced disciplinary methodologies and resources.

Total Hours

1. A student may substitute the “Medieval World” section of HIST 100, by petition to a Medieval Studies faculty advisor. Only the section of HIST 100 devoted to the Middle Ages may be substituted.

2. A student may substitute up to 6 hours in geographical distribution coursework with courses on the medieval civilizations of the Americas: ANTH 277, ANTH 278, or both. However, at least one course must still be taken from each of the three regional areas.

3. List of courses to fulfill Additional Medieval Studies Coursework.

4. A student may also petition to satisfy the capstone experience by enrolling in MDVL 500, Seminar in Medieval Studies. Enrollment requires approval of the instructor and Director of the Program in Medieval Studies.

Substitution for specific courses listed above will be approved by the concentration advisor only in exceptional cases.

Twelve hours of 300- and 400-level courses in the major must be taken on this campus.

All foreign language requirements must be satisfied.

A Major Plan of Study Form must be completed and submitted to the LAS Student Academic Affairs Office before the end of the fifth semester (60-75 hours). Please see your advisor.
