Please know that this information is used administratively to move related proposals through workflow efficiently. Example: If you are revising the BS proposal and one related concentration within the next 6 weeks, "This BS proposal (key 567) is related to the Concentration A proposal (key 145)."

This BFASA Interdisc Practice concentration proposal (key 645) is related to the BFASA major proposal (key 640), Painting Concentration proposal (key 642), Illustration Concentration proposal (key 1188), Photography Concentration proposal (key 955), Printmaking Concentration proposal (key 643), New Media Concentration proposal (key 641), Sculpture Concentration proposal (key 644), and Fashion Concentration proposal (key 951).

Program Justification

Provide a brief description of what changes are being made to the program.

Revise the "General Studio" concentration name to "Interdisciplinary Practice," integrate gen ed, first-year curricula, update course requirements including total hours, and clarify that a single concentration is required for the BFASA.

Did the program content change 25% or more in relation to the total credit hours, since the 2020-2021 catalog. (<http://catalog.illinois.edu/archivedacademiccatalogs/2020-2021/>)

No

Why are these changes necessary?

1- Concentration name change:

Contemporary art practice and discourse uses the term "Interdisciplinary Practice" to describe art and practice reflecting a mixed media approach to making, in contrast to an artist or art practice that is discipline-specific (for example a painter/painting). Therefore, "Interdisciplinary Practice" is far more specific and applicable than "General Studio". The School of Art and Design is accredited by NASAD (National Association of Schools of Art and Design). As members, we are required to get program plan approval for any new degrees, pos, majors, or concentrations. The BFASA with concentrations was approved by NASAD in 2019, and was implemented for fall 2019 admission. The School is now undergoing our ten year reaccreditation. NASAD external evaluators raised concern regarding the "General Studio" concentration not being clearly distinguished from the other concentrations and also not providing enough interdisciplinary courses at the 300/400 level. These revisions, in part, are done in response to those concerns.

2- Embed the first-year curriculum directly into each program, including the new revisions. The first-year curriculum is currently its own CIM-P page (Art Undeclared, key 863), which will be deactivated upon it being embedded into all Art & Design undergraduate major CIM-P program pages. The new first-year curricula revisions remove the 2D, 3D, 4D category (-9 hours), add Design I and Design 2 (+6 hours, currently existing courses in ARTF), and shift any concentration requirements into the concentration section (moving 3 hours of 200-level ARTS course) rather than calling them out as concentration requirements in the first-year curricula, which was confusing for students and challenging to manage in the degree audit correctly. These changes to the first-year curricula were developed after an ad hoc first-year curriculum committee assessed and reviewed the first-year curriculum and determined that the 2D, 3D, 4D discipline-based categories were not delivering the requisite shared learning outcomes needed for our students to successfully move into their majors. The committee proposed a return to Design I and Design II (last taught in 2017-2018) as a method for delivering consistent shared foundational learning outcomes to all our first-year students.

3- Concentration requirement changes:

Previously, a long list of ARTS courses was provided and many were repeatable. The lists were simplified and separated by 200-level and advanced level. Due to the NASAD expectations, course revisions to ARTS 350/351/450 are currently being made in CIM to designate them as advanced interdisciplinary courses for this concentration and to shift them from 4 hours to 3 hours.

4-Overall concentration hour change:

The previous general studio art concentration required 43 to 46 hours and the new requirements total 48 hours, primarily due to one course (3 hrs) from the first-year curricula moving into the concentration.

5-Clarify single concentration:

A note was added to clarify that students must have a concentration for the BFASA and they may not declare more than one concentration.

6-Inputting new campus gen ed requirement template per office of the provost initiative.

No changes to total hours in degree.

NOTE: ARTS 350, ARTS 351, ARTS 450 are submitted for approval as 3-credit hour courses, effective Fall 2024.

Program Regulation and Assessment

Plan to Assess and Improve Student Learning

Illinois Administrative Code: 1050.30(b)(1)(D) Provision is made for guidance and counseling of students, evaluations of student performance, continuous monitoring of progress of students toward their degree objectives and appropriate academic record keeping.

List the program's student learning outcomes. Each outcome should identify what students are expected to know and/or be able to do upon completing this program.

ALL BFASA concentrations share the following 7 LO's, with each concentration having additional learning outcomes reflective of those specializations.

1. Students will understand and be able to apply basic principles of visual and material communication, including two-dimensional pictorial concepts, three-dimensional formal and spatial concepts, and a wide variety of media and formats for artistic production, and possess the ability to apply them to a specific aesthetic intent.

2. Students will demonstrate an ability and willingness to experiment and explore the expressive possibilities of various media, and artistic and creative strategies for self-directed art-making and investigate the diverse activities and conceptual modes available to the contemporary artist, including work that directly addresses or engages with recent developments in the field of fine art as well as broader social questions and challenges. Students are trained in the production and critique of artworks that explore forms and technologies identified as new or emerging.

3. Students will gain knowledge of, understand, and be able to apply concepts of visual rhetoric in the development of content, and be able to recognize and critically analyze an evolving variety of communicative practices in art and visual culture, including those that represent diverse cultures and sociopolitical positions, and to demonstrate openness to new social possibilities and a critical empathy towards both audiences and culture producers of differing histories, origins and identities.

4. Students will develop an innovative, imaginative, and entrepreneurial self-directed studio practice, will gain a deep understanding of their own creativity, be able to apply it in any context, and will learn to independently generate thematic investigation and implementation of research in a broad variety of social locations, including art and educational institutions, activist forums, and cyberspace.

5. Students will be willing and able to investigate and accommodate broad-ranging types of knowledge and artistic strategies for the purpose of synthesizing diverse and even disparate ideas in order to create sophisticated, unique works of art, participate in new types of collaboration, and to make innovative statements and hypotheses, or propose creative solutions to social, organizational and societal problems using aesthetic strategies.

6. While pursuing a BFASA, students prepare for work as artists at a time when artists are employed in a variety of spheres – artistic direction, project management, education, research, fine art, curation, performance, non-profit work, activism, advertising, and many others. As digital medias evolve, our graduates will be flexible, able to understand the best use of emerging technologies while crafting new economic and social connections.

7. Students will produce an integrated, cohesive, critically informed body of work for a thesis exhibition, supported by a written thesis document that serves to position their artistic practice within the broader sphere of contemporary art practices, exhibition strategies, audiences, and economies.

In addition, for the Interdisciplinary Practice concentration:

8. BFASA students in the Interdisciplinary Practice concentration will have the ability to conceive, design, and create works in one or more specific fine arts disciplines.

9. Students in the Interdisciplinary Practice concentration will have an understanding of the similarities, differences, and relationships among the various fine arts areas.

10. Students in the Interdisciplinary Practice concentration will have experiences that encourage familiarity with a broad variety of work in various specializations and media, including broad exposure to works of art.

11. Students in the Interdisciplinary Practice concentration will have opportunities to develop an area of emphasis in at least one fine arts area, process, or medium.

Describe how, when, and where these learning outcomes will be assessed.

Describe here:

Student learning outcomes for the sophomore and junior years are assessed primarily via successful completion of art and design coursework. All courses in the school of art and design studio art program provide syllabi with stated learning goals and outcomes. Successful completion of these goals is determined through individual and group critiques following each assigned project. Individual student performance will be used to evaluate students' achievement of the course goals and will be evaluated by course instructors at the end of each term. The senior year culminates in a capstone course that requires the completion of a portfolio of work, as well as a written statement that adequately identifies the works intent and positions the work within the broader context of historical and current art practices. BASA students exhibit their work in a group exhibition, which provides an additional assessment mechanism of individual and group levels of achievement.

Identify faculty expectations for students' achievement of each of the stated student learning outcomes. What score, rating, or level of expertise will signify that students have met each outcome? Provide rating rubrics as necessary.

Course grades, exhibition of artwork, and student feedback are used by program faculty to review and assess the attainment of program student learning outcomes and our last scheduled program meeting each May.

Explain the process that will be implemented to ensure that assessment results are used to improve student learning.

The programs within the School of Art and Design assess student learning outcomes on an annual basis, in response to the CLOA annual update prompt. Program assessment is led by program chairs, who share assessment plans each fall with the Executive Associate Director and the Program Chairs Committee, followed by a report on plan outcomes and potential impact on program courses and curriculum each spring. The school also has a standing Committee on Outcomes and Assessment who have oversight of shared school-wide courses, curricula, and learning outcomes. Program standards are further assessed by the National Association of Schools of Art and Design, the primary accrediting organization for colleges, schools, and universities in the United States.

The BFA in Studio Art with a concentration in Interdisciplinary Practice offers a student-initiated path through a variety of studio art course offerings. This concentration is meant for those students who want to develop multiple approaches to making art, rather than focusing on a singular discipline or medium. The contemporary art world is inherently interdisciplinary, flexible, and responsive to new technologies and methods of expression. The Interdisciplinary Studio concentration recognizes this and offers students the opportunity to approach, hone and develop skills across the wide range of related fine arts practices offered in the School of Art and Design. Students who choose the Interdisciplinary Practice concentration develop an array of practical approaches, weaving together experience and skills from courses across our studio areas and faculty expertise. Interdisciplinary courses at the sophomore, junior, and senior level focus on developing practical skills in a variety of material applications. Advanced courses center on building critical, theoretical, and professional competencies and expertise in unique studio practices.

Students in the BFA Studio Art degree, major in Studio Art, must declare one concentration and students may not declare more than one concentration.

Graduation Requirements

Minimum hours required for graduation: 122 hours.

University Requirements

Minimum of 40 hours of upper-division coursework, generally at the 300- or 400-level. These hours can be drawn from all elements of the degree. Students should consult their academic advisor for additional guidance in fulfilling this requirement.

The university and residency requirements can be found in the Student Code (§ 3-801) and in the Academic Catalog.

General Education Requirements

Follows the campus General Education (Gen Ed) requirements. Some Gen Ed requirements may be met by courses required and/or electives in Art and Design.
